

My Favorite Poem

My favorite poem to be read at a dinner party is one that makes everyone laugh and feel hearty.
It's not too long or too complex,
but it has some clever rhymes and wordplay effects.
It's about food and wine and good company,
and how life is better when we share it happily.
It ends with a toast to our hosts and our friends,
and a wish that this night never ends.

Bing AI and John Preston